

KENT WORKMAN Retired from LBC

Kent Workman Endowed Fund for Diversity and Inclusion at Lyman Briggs College

Through this fund, Workman wants to empower Briggs students and help those who are making an effort to educate themselves, educate others, challenge the system and do programs and activities to address ongoing issues to make forward progress.

What was your goal in establishing this fund?

To encourage and support LBC student efforts in studying and exploring issues of inclusion and diversity.

What impacted you the most from your time in Lyman Briggs College?

The students: their dedication, interests and support of each other.

In what ways are you using your LBC education in your professional life to contribute to society?

In reference to this fund, I learned a great deal from Briggs students about diversity over the years which has greatly enriched my life and I have used in all parts of my life.
