

In Memory of SEAN HEALEY

Sean Healey Endowed Memorial Award Fund for Honors Writing in the LBC

Sean was a gifted writer and avid reader who had a great thirst for knowledge. This award goes to a freshman student who displays the same engagement, intelligence and skills Sean displayed in his first year.

What about Sean's time in Lyman Briggs sticks out to you most?

Sean loved Spartan football and basketball. He also enjoyed listening to jazz music on WKAR radio every Friday night, hosted by one of his high school teachers. He had great camaraderie with his Lyman Briggs classmates. Two years after Sean's passing, his Class of 1994 dedicated their LBS graduation luncheon to Sean in memoriam.

Can you tell us more about Sean and his years at Lyman Briggs?

Sean was a computer science major at Lyman Briggs from Fall 1990-Spring 1992. He passed away in July 1992 due to complications associated with Muscular Dystrophy. Sean's personal library consisted of over 500 books.

What inspired you to create a scholarship in his name?

We wanted to create a scholarship that would serve as a lasting memory of Sean's love of reading and exceptional writing skills. Students following in Sean's footsteps should never cease their thirst for knowledge through reading, including leisure reading.
