

MICHAEL GREBNER Class of 1972

Grebner Family Fund

This fund will assist future Spartans who might otherwise be dissuaded from pursuing an interest in STEM education and research to, instead, have access to the tools they need to achieve success in their desired field of study.

What was your goal in establishing this fund?

When I attended LBC, it was largely able-bodied, male, white and middle or upper middle class. I strongly feel that inclusiveness is necessary for our society to thrive. My wife & I established the fund to increase inclusivity at LBC.

What impacted you the most from your time in Lyman Briggs College?

Opportunities to interact with many fellow students interested in a broad education in the sciences.

In what ways are you using your LBC education in your professional life to contribute to society?

Currently retired. I am a volunteer tax preparer for AARP. As a physician I was a clinician, medical staff officer, administrator, business owner and creator of medical delivery systems.
